SYNOPSIS

Walt Disney said that “everything that happens at Disney is the result of a team effort.” Students take a walk in the footsteps of Walt as they learn how to become effective leaders and work within a team, using Disneyland® Park as a field for exploration and discovery.

Throughout the experience, participants journey through Walt’s 4 C’s of leadership – Courage, Confidence, Curiosity, and Constancy – as they discover the secret to making dreams come true. Students discuss what it takes to become an excellent leader, exploring Walt Disney’s own unique leadership style in the process.

Using Walt’s leadership journey and select attractions to spark discussion, students are challenged to “dwell in the realm of possibilities” as they develop the courage to pursue their dreams, the confidence to embrace their character, the curiosity to explore and step outside of their comfort zones, and the constancy to keep moving forward and adapt.

Students discover the importance of teamwork and diversity through team-building activities designed to test communication, trust, and the ability to work under pressure. In teams, they learn how to brainstorm, plan, and delegate responsibility, gaining valuable skills that highlight their own potential to make this world a better place.
